Quicquid agunt homines—nostri farragis libelli. Juv. Sat. 8. v. 85.

[VOL. VI

SATURDAY, AUGUST 17, 1793.

LEXINGTON; Printed by JOHN BRADFORD, at his Office on Croft Street; where Subscriptions, (at Fifteen Shillings per Annum) Advertisements &c. are thankfully received, and Printing in its different branches done with care and expedition.

At a meeting of sundry inhabitants of the state of Kentucky, in Lexington the 8th of July, 1793; to wit:

Richard Steele, Robert Sanders, John Hamblenton, Daniel Bartee, William Trotter, Joseph Rogers, Thomas A. Thomson, and Peter Barnett; having taken into consideration the excise law, and the circumstances of our country, are of opinion, that collecting taxes under the excise law in specie only, will be oppressive to the people of this country, in our present situation, as we cannot carry our produce to market through the channel of the Mississippi. Therefore we are of opinion, it is not improper to address, first the people of Kentucky; second, the legislature of this state, and thirdly, the Congress of the United States. Friends and Countrymen.

WE have taken into consideration the excise law passed by Congress, and are of opinion it is unjust, because our navigation is stopped (by the Spaniards) which is our natural and constitutional right; while the other states in the union have their ports open, and can sell their produce for specie; and as allegiance and protection are reciprocal, the United States ought to see that we are equally protected in our trade before we are to be expected to pay equal taxes under the excise law in specie only. If we pay seven cents per gallon in Kentucky, when our navigation is stopped, it will be much more burthenome to us than it would be if our navigation was open. If this be true, then it will follow of course, that the excise law is much more oppressive to the people of Kentucky than to those of the other states. It is the business of the legislature to find out ways and means to have justice done to all parts of the community. If we were allowed to pay our taxes under the excise law in produce at a reasonable price, it would be more just, though not fully so; and if this was fully made known to the distillers before they were required to pay, they might make choice, either to pursue or quit the business. We hope you will join us in our petitions to the legislature of this state, and also to Congress; and altho' we are informed our former petition or memorial to Congress concerning this business, was laid on the table and neglected; yet we think it is probable they may hear and redress our grievances, if we could bring them to see our situation as it really is. That we are as a barrier to part of of the other states against the savages, sustaining such damages as we do by their murdering and plundering our people to a very great amount in every year. Our trade being stopped—our country but very little improved, and of course we cannot have cyder and beer as substitutes for spirits distilled, as the people have in the old country. It is to be hoped they will hear and redress our grievances.

Foreign Intelligence.

FRANCE. NATIONAL CONVENTION.

Letter from the Commissioners on the Northern Frontiers.

"Valenciennes, April 23.

"We have the satisfaction to inform you, that we have gained a new advantage over the enemy.— They attacked yesterday near Naumburg, in three columns and with six pieces of cannon, one of our advanced posts, which being inferior in number, fell back on the camp. General Mombilly immediately proceeded from the camp with a reinforcement of nine pieces of cannon. The combat was obstinate, and continued from five in the morning until three in the evening. Our troops fought with so much bravery that they forced the enemy to retire with precipitation. They left a great number of men on the field of battle, and as in their flight they did not find the bridge sufficiently broad, many of them perished in the water by swimming. The citizens of Maubeuge in case of a serious attack, have sworn that they will bury themselves under the ruins of the place, and hang the first person who shall speak of capitulation. Quiet and calmness wait for the enemy with the same resolution. In short, our enemies are not to be dreaded at present; the reports given to us are not alarming. The enemy spend their time in parade and making false attacks. Their principal object, it is said, is Valenciennes, but they will not succeed."

OSTEND, April 20.

I have not been able to learn any thing, since my last, of what is going on in France. A gentleman, who arrived here from Dunkirk yesterday, says, that Maunt had refused to submit to the voice of the Assembly for sending him to the Abbey prison.—We are told that Dumourier, having entirely failed in his enterprise, has left from the Prince de Cobourg to retire into Switzerland, and it is said that he, with the Duke de Chartres, Pamela Eglesie, Mad. Stury, and General Valence, had set out for that country.

LISLE, April 23.

General Dampierre has come hither to review the battalions of the departments of the north, and Flanders &c.

A camp of about 14,000 men is forming at Cassel, under the command of General Omer.

The Abbey of Marquette is burnt.

Conde, Quefnoy and Valenciennes are in a manner blockaded by the enemy, who are bringing all their forces to that point of the frontier. General Dampierre has added 20,000 to his means of defence. Bloody engagements take place every day. That of the 16th continued from four in the morning, till eight at night.

COLOGNE, April 18.

This morning early N. Dumourier, accompanied by four of his officers, arrived in this city; it is said he intends setting off again immediately to continue his journey towards Switzerland. He is looked upon here as a man who is afraid of himself, and is under continual apprehensions of meeting every step, assassins, who would be glad to earn the 100,000 livres which the convention have offered for his head.

American Occurrences.

NEW-YORK, June 27.

Extract of a letter from London, dated May 1, to a Merchant in this city.

"I find trouble at home as well as well as abroad: Mr. Pitt has been lately heard to say very nearly as much as that he will treat with the convention, or the men of the day, if no better can be done. He is so much frightened at the home situation, that he will make terms with France, and next packet will confirm to you what I now write."

The Prussian advanced posts are very near Mentz. The French have entirely evacuated the Duchy Deux Ponts.

NORFOLK, June 29.

On Monday last a vessel arrived here from Boston, the Captain of which reported, that before he sailed, a vessel arrived at that port; by her intelligence was received, that General Dampierre had defeated the combined armies near Dunkirk, in a general action. It is true, a correspondent remarks, that we have no authentic advices of this action, yet it surely has as much probability for its support, as Dumourier's loss of the 25,000, so greedily swallowed by some folks. An Editor is certainly very commendable for refusing insertion to any thing which has not the appearance of truth; but some people remind us of the old proverb, "we gaze at gnats and swallow camels."

BALTIMORE, July 2.

Extract of a letter from a gentleman at York-Town (Virginia) to a gentleman in this town, dated June 29.

"We have just learnt from Norfolk, that the English have taken St. Lucia, and that General Dampierre had defeated the Austrians, commanded by Saxe Cobourg and Clairfayre near Valenciennes, killing 1000 men, and taking 1700 prisoners."

Lexington, August 17.

About the first instant the Indians killed a man at the Big Blue Lick, and stole several horses.

On the eighth they stole several horses belonging to the Contractors, about 7 miles from Fort-Washington.

TO THE REPUBLICAN.

THE licentiousness of the present period is more fully exposed by the strain of your address to the Printer of the Kentucky Gazette, than by any publication which has ever appeared in this country. I read it with surprise and indignation. What, sir, do you suppose that a member of Congress is responsible to his constituents for his vote? Have you, as one of them, been so vain of your confidence, as to believe that he is accountable to you for his conduct? What has led you to hope that a man who has shone at the President's Levee—who has dined with the Vice-President—who has supped with the Secretary of War, and who has, perhaps, bowed at an humble distance, to the Secretary of the Treasury, would condescend to answer your presumptuous enquiries? Stupid Republican! thy old fashioned ideas have induced me to believe that thou art one of those who emigrated to the wilds of Kentucky, before the commencement of the present happy Federal Government; and that thou still retainest the obsolete principles of 1776. Had you been acquainted with the history of the General Government, you would have been convinced of the glaring impropriety of your address. By framing it in modest unassuming language you expected to interest your fellow citizens in the enquiry. But they well know that a Representative in Congress, is not less independent than a Senator; and they know too, that the Senate have refused to admit their fellow citizens to hear their debates, altho' instructed to do so by legislatures of a majority of the States. It gives me pleasure to find, that your address has been treated with the most contemptuous and mortifying silence. I hope the gentleman alluded to, will treat every attempt to obtain information on the part of his constituents, with the same disdainful neglect. You say, may, in your ill-nature, contrive this silence into a confession of guilt, but you cannot thereby palliate or excuse your insolence. If he cannot in a satisfactory manner, explain his conduct, if he cannot assign any sufficient reasons in vindication of his vote, then your enquiry is evidently proper, inasmuch as it tends to expose his want of integrity or knowledge, and thereby to diminish the confidence of his constituents. Mr. Bradford's papers might have convinced you that this vote could not be justified on any known principles, and that his reasons for giving it must have been of a private nature. Indeed I have heard that he has informed his friends that this was the case, and that the documents which justified the Secretary of the Treasury in dissipating upwards of two hundred thousand dollars of public money, were confidential. Ought not this account of the business to satisfy any moderate reasonable man? Must every republican be permitted to dive into the arcanes of government? Let me advise you, sir, not to poison the public mind with your impertinent enquiries; but to believe that your Representative, like the monarch of our mother country, whose politics we now so happily imitate, "CAN DO NO WRONG."

A PLEDGE TO GOVERNMENT.

Extract from an Ad. entitled "An Ad. to regulate the claims to Invalid Pensions."

SECT. 1. BE it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America, in Congress assembled, That the second, third and fourth sections of the Act entitled "An Act to provide for the settlement of the claims of widows and orphans barred by the limitations heretofore established and to regulate the claims to invalid pensions," be repealed, and that in future, all claims to such pensions shall be regulated in the manner following, to wit:

First. All evidence relative to Invalids, shall be taken upon oath or affirmation, before the Judge of the district in which such Invalids reside, or before any three persons specially authorized by commission from the said Judge.

Secondly. The evidence relative to any claimant, must prove decisive disability to have been the effect of known wounds, received while in the actual line of his duty, in the service of the United States during the late war. That the evidence must be the affidavits of the commanding officer, or Surgeon of the ship, regiment, corps or company, in which such claimant served, or two other credible witnesses, to the same effect, setting forth the time and place of such known wound.

Thirdly. Every claimant shall be examined upon oath or affirmation, by two physicians or surgeons, to be authorized by commission from the said Judge, who shall report in writing, their opinion, upon oath or affirmation, of the nature of the said disability, and, in what degree it prevents the claimant from obtaining his livelihood, by labor.

Fourthly. Every claimant shall produce evidence of the time of his leaving the service of the United States. He must also produce evidence of three reputable freeholders of the city, town or county, in which he usually resided, for the two years immediately after he left the service, as aforesaid, of the existence of his disability during that period, and ascertain ing, of their own knowledge, the mode of life, employment, labor, or means of support of the claimant.

Fifthly. And the said claimant must produce the evidence of two credible witnesses, of the continuance of his disability, from the expiration of the said two years, to the time of his application.

Sixthly. Each claimant must show a good and sufficient cause why he did not apply for a pension to the person or persons authorized to examine his claim, on or before the eleventh of December, one thousand seven hundred and eighty-eight, the time limited for applications of this nature.

Seventhly. No evidence of any claimant shall be admitted, whose claim has been examined and rejected, on or before the aforesaid eleventh of December, one thousand seven hundred and eighty-eight.

SACRED TO THE MUSES.

CHANSON PATRIOTIQUE:
La fiere Autriche nous brave.

Translated from the French.

HARK, the Austrian proudly
dares us,
Conqueror of the Turkish slaves;
Sons of Galia fly to combat,
Vict'ry must attend the brave.
By the Patriot's virtuous labors,
Liberty her throne regains;
On the head of ev'ry Despot,
People we will break our chains.

War we wage against oppression;
From the tyrants of the earth,
We demand the rights of Nature,
Given at creation's birth.
Lo! the throne of ev'ry Despot
In the dust degraded lies;
From the ruins of each palace
See the happy cottage rise.

Liberty, our native country.
Are the Gods to whom we bend;
In this cause, so glorious,
Conquest shall our steps attend;
'Tis revol'd—the cannon thunders,
Peace no more reforms her seat,
Till the world's oppressors, humbled,
Supplicate at Gallia's feet.

All our days, already number'd
By a great o'er-ruling pow'r,
No designs of human prudence
Can prolong their course an hour:
Doom'd to death the moment written,
'Tis in vain the coward flies,
He arrests him in her fury,
Strikes indignant, and he dies.

Why should death appal the Patriot
When he falls opposing kings?
'Tis the brave man's peaceful flamber,
Under Glory's shading wings;
He foels with his country triumphs,
When her banners conquer flying flies;
In our grateful bosoms cherish'd,
His remembrance never dies.

Five Dollars Reward.

Run away from the subscriber, living near Lexington, about the first of July last, GEORGE, a dark-skinned man, about 23 years old, about 5 feet 6 or 7 inches high, black and active, large full eyes, had on tow linen shirt, and and trousers; it is likely he will pass for a free man, and has attempted to preach; it is probable he is either lurking in the county of Logan or Green, or gone to Cumberland; any person delivering him to the subscriber shall have the above reward and all reasonable charges.

Will. Farrow.

William Rost,

Boot and Shoe-maker,
At the sign of the Boot, Shoe and Slipper, on Croft Street, next door to the Printing Office, Lexington.

Takes this method of informing his customers, and the Public at large, that he intends selling his work at the following very moderate prices, (viz.)

Boots from seven Dollars and a half to nine Dollars, Men's calf-skin Shoes from twelve to thirteen Shillings,
Coarse ditto from ten to eleven Shillings,
Women's Shoes from nine Shillings to ten and six pence,
And Children's in proportion.
Uppers for Shoes from three to three Shillings and six Pence,

teen Shillings,
For half soles Boots or Shoes from three Shillings to three Shillings and six Pence—and other mending in proportion.

He has red Morocco for binding Boots, white Calf skins,
white wax or mechen, Heel-ball, Bot legs and Calf skins—which he will sell on very low terms.

* He wants three or four good JOURNEYMEN, to whom he will give as good wages as can be got in the State.

CRAIG, PARKERS & Co's
PAPER MANUFACTORY,

IS now actually making paper,
and we make no doubt but that in the course of this spring, we shall be able to furnish this state in all kinds of paper, provided we can get a sufficient supply of rags; nor have we any reason to fear, from the success we have already had in collecting rags, but that we shall be plentifully supplied; provided the good people of this state can be prevailed on to save them, and as the prosecution of this business depends entirely on that article, we earnestly hope that the importance of the manufactory to the state at large, is a sufficient argument to the individuals to save their rags.

The subscriber requests all those indebted to him, to make immediate payment, as he cannot possibly give any further indulgence. He hopes no person of gratitude so indebted will fail to comply with this notice, as they will by so doing very much dis-oblige themselves as well as their humble servant.
